HANNA PLANS THE FIGHT.

VOL LYHL-NO. 318.

THE NATIONAL CHAIRMAN NAMES HIS EXECUIIVE COMMITTEE. may, Manley, Payne, Leland, Clayton, pawes, Darblu, and Scott to Assist the Chairman Hanna Says the Preservation of the Supreme Court Is a Vital Issue, CLEVELAND, July 12 .- After nearly a month sfeareful consideration Chairman M. A. Hanna of the Republican National Committee has named the Executive Committeemen who will be his co-laborers and advisors in managing McKinley's campaign. The list contains these names: M. A. Hanna, Onio, Chairman; M. S. Quay, Pennsylvania; Joseph H. Manicy, Malney H. C. Payne, Wisconsin; tyrus Leland, Kansas; Powell Clayton, Arkansas: C. G. Dawes, Illinois; W. T. Durbin, Indiana, and N. B. Scott, West Virginia, Another man is yet to be appointed. W. M. Osborne of Boston is made Secretary of the committee, and J. A. Dick of this city assistant Secretary.

The committee will meet in this city on Wednesday of this week.

"I am now preparing for the fight," Mr. Hanna said to-day, with the air of a man who is confident of winning a prospective battle, "for there is going to be a fight, and a hot one at that. We think that the Western and Southern States are detatable ground, and we shall go into the contest with that idea. The Dakotas should go Republican; Nebraska should be Republican, and the same is true of Alabama and Louisiana. I have not fully made up my mind as to the political conditions of the people of the border States, but think we have a fighting chance there. In the campaign there are more issues than the tariff and the money questions, which are of fully as much moment as the other two and which, if anything, concern the maintenance of our Government more than the two teames which now hold the public mind. I refer particularly to the stability of our judicial system, which is threatened by the Democratic party. In their platform is a plank which contends that the present system of selecting Judges of the Supreme Court be swept away. That court should be surrounded with the greatest protection in order to keep it pure and untainted, and the selection of Judges should not be settled by a sudden wave, a sudden excitement of the people - hysteria of the masses that is a good expression. Frequently the people are swayed by sentiments of momentary duration. They are wrought up to a high pitch and, without giving the matter sober second thought, set. On the morrow they are sorry for their course of action, but then it is too late. The Supreme Court must be guarded, as on its stability depends the soundness of our Govern-

APPROVAL FOR M'KINLEY. Letters Now Coming Praising His National

CANTON, O., July 13.-The telegraph wires have not ceased to bring to Major McKinley endorsements of his address on Saturday for national honor, and now the mail has taken up the same song. The sentiments he then exsed seem to have struck a popular chord.

A peculiar feature of some of these messages is the request that the Major in his forthcoming letter of acceptance make the document as nearly non-partisan as such a document can be, to the end that sound money and conservative Democrate can come heartily to his support. It is suggested in some of the messages that the written along the lines of Saturday's address so far as consistent with the nature of

A request of this nature was delivered in person to-day by C. H. Whitmore, State Attorney of Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. Whitmore came East as far as Chicago to negotiate some local bonds, and the condition of markets he encountered impressed upon him very forcibly the need of relief. To advance that end, so far as he could do so personally, he called upon Major McKinley to urge upon bim to take a firm stand on the money questi servative course on other issues. Mr. Whitmore was kindly received and his appeal courteously listened to. Major McKinley has not committed himself by any promises. His letter, when finally issued, will show him standing firmly upon the St. Louis platform and upon all of it. The document will be neither rabid nor indiscreet, but it will be a clear, straightforward acceptance of the doctripe laid down by his party.

Charles Foster of Fostoria, O., ex-Governor of Ohio, and Secretary of the Treasury in Harrison's last Cabinet, arrived in the city this evening and remained over night.

The Chicago Convention," said the ex-Secretary, "means the utter and complete annihilation of the Democratic party. Its repudiation of the Democratic party. Its reputia-tion of honest obligations will be repudiated by the American people. The only claim to dis-tinction of Mr. Bryan is his oratory, and when his Chicago efforts are quietly, soberly consid-ered, they cannot be regarded as great schieve-ments. I know a colored man named Dunbar down in Dayton who is Bryan's peer in oratory any time. In fact, I prefer to hear the colored man."

any time. In fact, I prefer to hear the colored man."

Mr. Foster also said that although the official headquarters of the National Committee would undoubtedly be in New York city, the fight would be forced in the central and western parts of the country, and it is more than probable that a very important campaign headquarters will be established in Chicago.

Mr. Foster joined Major McKinley in a dinner party this evening at the residence of George De Frease, editor of the Repository, a paper established in 1815 by Mrs. McKinley's grandfather. Other members of the party were Joseph H. Smith of Urbana, ex-State Librarian, and Mrs. Smith of Urbana, ex-State Librarian, and Mrs. Smith Private Secretary James Boyle and wife, and a few friends from the city.

One of the novel features of the party arranged for Wednesday by the women of Cleveland will be a brass band made up entirely of women in full uniform, bailing from Chagrin Fails, O. They will march in the street and head the procession.

Lively Contests Over the Offices Expected

In the State Convention. DES MOINES, Ia., July 13 .- The clans are gathering for the Republican State Convention. which will meet here on Wednesday. There will be nearly 1,200 delegates and as many visitors as can be packed in the big Calvary Taberhacle, which will sent 3,500 people. Hot contests are promised over the nominations for several State offices. The Convention will Sominate candidates for Secretary of State, Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, Attorney-General, Supreme Court Judge, and Railroad Commissioner

The orseent Auditor, C. G. McCarthy; the present Attorney General, Milton Remley, and the present Treasurer, John Herriott, will be reminated without opposition. Some one may named against Hemley, who has aroused sifferable anragonism within the party, but will receive the customary renomination on first ballot. There will be warm enough less over the remaining offices to make the avention a lively one.

CROWN OF THORNS, CROSS OF GOLD. Bryan Plays That Speech Everywhere-Used It in Congress in 1894.

The young elecutionist who was nominated at Chicago for President of the United States on the strength of his "Crown of thorns and cross of gold" speech, had worked that phrase very hard before, so that it may well have slipped easily over his tongue.

THE SUN told its readers yesterday, quoting rom the New York Herald, that, according to Secretary J. Sterling Morton, Mr. Bryan's rhetorical figure of the crucifizion of "labor" on a cross of gold, formed a part of his speech a week previously in a debate with John P. Irish (in which Irish came off winner, too). As a matter of fact it is much older. The Boy used it on Dec. 22, 1894, in the House of Representatives.

The House was in Committee of the Whole considering a bill to amend the laws relating to national banking associations, and to exempt the notes of State banks from taxation under certain conditions. The Boy Orator waxed eloquent in opposition.

"Notwithstanding all these influences in favor of fimetallism," he cried, after reciting some of his stock arguments, "the money centres present this insolent demand for further legislation in favor of an universal gold standard. I for one will not yield to the demand. I will not help to crucify mankind upon a cross of gold. I will not aid them to press down upon the bleeding brow of labor the crown of thorns."

At Chicago he said: "Having behind us the commercial interests. and the laboring interests, and all the toiling masses, we shall answer their demands for a gold standard by saying to them, you shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns. You shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

REPUBLICAN BOLTERS.

A Meeting in Colorado to Decide on Some Sort of a Programme.

MANITOU, Col., July 13 .- The first contingent of the Republican bolters arrived here vesterday for the purpose of conferring with Senator Henry M. Teller with regard to the national campaign. Teller is at the Mansions, while Senators Dubois and Hartman are at the Ciff House. Pettigrew, Mantle, and Cannon did not arrive.

The first meeting of the leaders of the bolt was not prolific of any decision concerning national matters, save that it appears to be the intention to relegate all questions save silver to the back-

Many intimates of the local political leaders sserted that the selection of this quiet place for the meeting of the allies was to better enable them to discuss the apportionment of offices as

them to discuss the apportionment of effices as a reward for their labors in behalf of silver. This is denied by both Teller and Dubois. Among those in attendance is Mr. A. K. Stevenson, a leading Republican of Colorado. His presence indicates a deal of some kind.

Senator Dubois said last night: "We are exceedingly anxious that the gold standard shall not be fixed on the country. It goes without saying that we are in the fight for free sliver, and under the circumstances it is only fair that we should consult one another so as to secure some unanimity of action. I cannot see for the life of me how it would help the cause for us some unanimity of action. I cannot see for the life of me how it would help the cause for us life of me how it would help the cause for us to be hasty.

Mr. A. K. Stevenson said: "The people of Colorado need have no fear that there will be a division of unbile sentiment if the Republicans can help it."

Senator Teller was asked point blank if there was to be any discussion of the reward likely to fail to the lot of the silver men. His answer was given in an impatient tone, and he seemed to resent the innuendo as a reflection on his career as a statesman.

"I am here with the object of hastening the campaign. Every hour is precious and we should be in the field, for there is a vast educational work awaiting us. Every delay is to be deprecated, and I shail do all in my power to hasten a plan of campaign, and I shail do my best to advance the cause of the people whether or not the two Conventions at St. Louis act in unison."

To other questions the Senator declined to re-

CHANDLER MAKES PROPHECIES.

and New Hampshire 15,000. WASHINGTON, July 13 .- An interview with Senator W. E. Chandler of New Hampshire is printed this evening, in which he pays a high personal tribute to Mr. Sewall of Maine. Senator Chandler understands that Mr. Sewall is a protectionist and as much opposed to free ships as he himself is. This may not make him acceptable to the Democrats, but Senstor Chandler thinks it will commend him to the Populists. who are largely protectionists.

"Does the nomination of Mr. Sewall strengthen the ticket?" the Senator was asked. "It makes it more respectable, but no stronger. It won't give the ticket an extra vote in the East or perceptibly increase it in Maine."
"Then you think the ticket will have a chance in November?"

It has not the alightest chance to win unless

"Will the Democrats make a showing in "Will the Democrats make a showing in Maine?"

The personal friends of Gen. Sewall may help him increase the Democratic vote in Maine, and thus keep the Democratic party from disappearing at the polls, as would otherwise have been the case. Without his nomination the Democratic vete would have been little more than "scattering." The Republican majority in Maine will not be more than 30,000."

"Did you notice the assertion of Senator Tillman that your State will vote for silver in November?"

"We are expecting and believe we will get "We are expecting and believe we will get 15.000 majority in New Hampshire in November. Our people are bimetallists, but there is no sentiment for the immediate free collage of silver, which is the issue. Substantially all the leading Democrats of the State will vote for McKinley. Those who do not will take to the words."

MORRISTOWS, July 13,-The gold and silver forces in Morristown lined up on Saturday night in battle array. The gold standard drew first blood and came off victorious. Ex-City Counsel George W. Forsyth and ex-Overseer of the Poor James Lyon, both Democrats, became involved in a discussion as to the merits of free coinage. Mr. Forsyth is a lawyer and a gold-tandard advocate. His vigorous denunciation of the Chicago platform and nominees angered Mr. Lyon, who called Mr. Forsyth a liar, being promptly knocked down for his pains. There was a rough-and-tumble fight for a few minutes before the combatants were sevarated. Lyon attempted to reach Forsyth as soon as he regained his feet, and was knocked down by a blow from Forsyth's anc. CHRISTIAN ENDEAFORERS CON-DEMN HIS ADMINISTRATION.

Tremendous Demonstration When One of Their Speakers Calls This Government Wenk, Wicked, and Sarbaric, Because It Did Not Fight Turkey About Armenia.

WASHINGTON, July 13,-The last day's session of the Fifteenth International Christian Endeavor Convention began to-day at the appointed hour in the three white tents simultaneously after the usual sunrise prayer meetings, President Clark, Treasurer Shaw, and Trustee Wayland Hoyt presiding. It was a day reserved for missionaries. Addresses were made in tents "Williston" and "Endeavor" by a number of foreign delegates, India, China Africa, Asia, England, and the countries of Continental Europe being represented. Among others, Missionaries Goll of Africa, Rutnam of India, Bentley of China, and Hildner of Germany spoke.

Chief interest of the day centred in the Ar menian demonstration in tent "Washington." An Armenian Relief Committee has been at work all the week stirring up enthusiasm among the delegates. Special Armenian relief flags and badges have been spread over the city, and they appear everywhere in the decorations in street cars and on the headdress and lapels of the delegates. Three Armenian missionaries are here, one being Secretary Green of the National Relief Committee, and the others being ladies, Margaret W. Leitch of Ceylon and Rebecca Kirkorian of Turkey, just returned from the scene of the atrocities. These three spoke to an immense crowd of sympathizing Endeavorers in tent " Washington." The appearance of Miss Kirkorian in Armenian costume, her sad face, and her broken and pathetic story of her people's woes, moved the great audience to frequent and audible expressions of sympathy and sorrow. Her father, a venerable Protestant pastor in Armenia, has just been released from a Turkish prison. Two of her brothers are still suffering imprison

After her appeal she was again presented to the audience, while Miss Leitch, her fellow worker, wrapped her in the folds of an American flag and called upon Americans everywhere to see that the protection of this Government was extended to her people. This incident brought cheer after cheer from the audience. Evangelist Mills took up the appeal, and in a saionate harangue assailed the Governments of Europe and the United States for their indiference toward the Armenian slaughter.

"Had our noble President on one of his fish ing excursions," he said, "wandered into the Turkish domain, and had so much as a tiny little bullet from a Turk's play pistol passed through his sail, Americans would have found that it was some of our business to interfere in Turkish affairs. [Great applause and laughter.] I charge the Government of the United States with misrepresentation of the enlightened sentiment of the American people in this matter. The President of the United States, the Secretary of State, and the American Minister have disregarded our broken treaties; they have permitted American lives to be beindangered; they have permitted American lives to be endangered; they have permitted American property to be destroyed without reparation, and American citizens to be imprisoned.

"Our Government has stirred the passions of the American people to anger against England on the one-thousandth part of the pretext that would have sufficed for a destructive war with Turkey. The Administration officers have turned a deaf and almost scornful ear to the entreaties and representations of some of our best citizens, missionaries, churches, and moral societies, and I denounce their conduct as unsured.

Finally when his voice and manner indicated that he had reached the end of his period, six rousing cheers of approval were given. Dr. Wayland Hoyt, who presided, arose in his seat beside the speaker and called upon the audience to reaffirm the charge. Again came the six cheers, with hearty enthusiasm.

I hope that response will echo through the empty White House and extend to Buzzard's Bar." cried Mr. Mills as he took his seat. The Convention closed its business sessions to-night. To-morrow there will be a service of song and praise at Mount Vernon. The Board of Trustees of the united Christian Endeavor societies held its final meeting for

MICHIGAN DEMOCRATS ANGRY. Gen. Alger Thinks Bryan Can Carry Non-of the Middle Western States.

Gen. Russell A. Alger of Michigan is at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He will sail to-morrow for Europe, and expects to return late in August. He sail of the exclusion of Don Dickinson and his gold delegates from the Chicago Convention:

"The Democrata of Michigan feel that the action was absolutely without warrant, an i threaten to resent their treatment at the polls. The sound-money men would not sup-port the platform in any case, but they feat now that they are even warranted in going to the extent of supporting the Republican candidate. It would be very hard for Mr. Dickinson to bring himself to vote the Republican ticket, and I believe that he will abtain from voting.

"I do not think it possible for Bryan to carry "I do not think it peasible for Bryan to carry a single one of the middle Western States. There is much talk of a prevailing silver sentiment. If the election were to occur now I think there would be more votes cast for the silver candidates than there would be if it were held two weeks hence. Just before I left home four Democrats silver men—told me that they would not vote for 'that Populist Bryan.' It is not slupply the question of silver. The bemocracy feel that they have been chaited out of a candidate and are asked to vote for a man who does not represent Democratic but Populistic ideas. When the paint was first put on, the flag and Bryan were bright and clean, but thousands of hurrying pedestrians have trailed their dusty shoes over the bright colors of the flag, with the result that the emblem is so trampled and disfigured as to be scarcely distinguishable. The flag has received the same treatment in front of other Populist

The old soldiers were the first to recognize the indignity that has been put upon the flag, and they are vigorous in denunciation of those who are responsible for this latest scheme of sidewalk decoration. #### EXPLOSION ON AN OIL LIGHTER. One Life Lest and $20,000 Worth of Property Beatroyed.

Two explosions occurred yesterday on lighter No. 10, belonging to the Standard Oil Company. The lighter, which has a capacity of 400 barrels of oil, was lying at the pier at Cavan's Point, Jersey City, taking on a cargo for Hunter's Point, About 300 barrels had been loaded, when at 2:45 o'clock Capt. Frederick Henry of 291 Floyd street, Brooklyn, and Mate Alexander McElhatton of 76 Freeman street, Greenpoint, decided to go sshore and have a drink. As they were stepping off the lighter an explosion occurred.

McElhatton was blown into the water and Henry was hurled against a post. Foreman Herry was huried against a post. Foreman Dryden and a workman named Styles threw a rope to McElhatton, but he failed to grasp it and disappeared from view. The body was atterward recovered, Capt. Henry, who was stunned, was sent home in a coach after he had been restored to consciousness.

The oil compan,'s tug Stella steamed up and pulled the lighter out into the stream. The oil burned flercely and made an illumination which could be seen for miles around. The Fire Department was called out, but was unable to render any service.

THEY WANT ANNEXATION.

Hawailans Hope for Republican Victory to Help It Along.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 13.-John W. Mason, a millionaire augar planter of Olas, Hawaii, was in the city to-day, and when interviewed upon the subject of annexation and cable communication with Hawaii, said: "We felt sure during the last session of Congress that a bill would be passed granting the franchise and a subsidy to Mr. Spaulding, who had obtained the franchise and a subsidy of $40,000 a year from the Legislature of Hawaii, and we were much disappointed when another company entered the field and caused a complication, as both were fighting for the franchise, and neither obtained it. We, however, are in hopes that the consolidation of their joint interests will be made before the next seasion of Congress and a franchise obtained, so that the laying of the cable may begin soon thereafter.

"The residents of the islands have not given up hopes of annexation. Mr. I. 7. Hitchcock, the present Sheriff of Hawaii and the former Marshal of the Hawaiian republic remarked to me on the morning of my departure that he was in hopes that the Republican party would be successful, as in that event he expected the policy inaugurated by ex-President Harrison would be consummated and our country become a part of the United States. He also remarked that he is an American, and would much prefer to be annexed to America than any other country, but that if the new Administration refuses to take us in and contitues the dog-in-the-imager policy, then he will be an Englishman.

"You will understand that our country is too amali to remain an independent republic, as the expense of maintaining a standing army, which is necessary on account of diliusters so long as we remain without protection, is too great for our resources. This expense will be unnecessary when we are annexed to the United States or some other great power. The baths are in the basement of the building, and are in charge of

Yesterday there were comparatively few bathers, and only once, at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, was there much of a crowd. First on the line at that time were two little girls, Rosie Finker, 12 years old of 167 Ludlow street, and Hedwig Amend, called Hattie for short, aged 14 years, of 165 Ludlow street. Although Jew and Gentile, they were chums. They were always together except when at school, and cared little for other companions.

Last summer they were often at the bath. out yesterday was their first visit this year. Mra. Finker did not like to have Rosie go to a Gentile bath house. The girls had been in the bathroom together twenty minutes yesterday, when Schoch knocked on the door and shouted: "Time's up, now; you'll have to hurry out." "All right, sir," the girls answered, and Schoch went upstairs to attend to other matters.

In five minutes he returned to the basement and told his wife to go in and make the girls hurry out. As a precautionary measure the bath-rooms are not provided with locks of any kind. Mrs. Schoon opened the door and slipped into the room. She expected to find the girls dressing, and was scolding them for tardiness as she entered. But she found them lying on the floor for all the world as if they were dead. She tried to revive them, and Schoch ran to the deaconess' home at 153 Essex street, summoned Miss Wilson, a trained nurse, and then went for Dr. Smith of 145 Stanton street.

Miss Wilson found Mrs. Schoch still laboring with the children. Hattle was lying with her head under a bench, and appeared to be in a much worse condition than Rosie, so Miss Wilson attended to her first. After a violent rubbing and patting Hattie began to show signs of returning consciousness. Then Miss Wilson went to the other child. For nearly balf an hour the nurse worked over the children before

Then both set to work and used every expedient they knew of, including artificial respiration. The girls had not fully regained consciousness, but were recovering so rapidly that at the end of an hour Dr. Smith felt it safe to leave them in charge of Miss Wilson. The children, he said, were suffering from heat stroke. They had taken a warm bath and a cold shower bath afterward, and the shock of the latter, combined with the excessive heat of the day, had overtaxed their vitality and affected their hearts.

Scarcely five minutes after Dr. Smith left the church there was a sudden change for the worse

In answer to her mother's inquiry as to what had happened, Hattle said at the hespital that she had taken a bath and then smelled something which became stronger, and then she knew nothing.

No attention was paid to what the child said until the reporters visited the baths last night. When the door of the room, in which the children had bathed and in which the body then lay, was opened then a peculiar sweetish odor, resembling that of coal gas, was detected in the place. A large furnace, which is used to heat the water for the baths, is just outside that room, and pipes from it leading to the chimney pass through a corner of the bathreom.

After a few moments' stay in the room the odor became very pronounced. An investigation was begun to find out if possible whether or not it might have been the gas that affected the children. The church people, including the Rev. Hiram Richard Huise, the minister were much concerned, but were united in their belief that gas did not figure in the case.

Miss Wilson was positive that the physicians' diagnosis were correct. She had noticed, she said, a slight odor of gas in the hathroom when she first entered, but it was very slight, and although she was in the room with the doors closed and every condition exactly the same as when the children were bathing she was in no way affected.

Rosie's body was removed to her home last same as when the children were bathing sho was in no way affected.

Hosle's body was removed to her home last night. She was a prefix child, with brown hair and eye, clive complexion, and very perfect teeth. Her father, is a leweller. Hattle's father is a carpenter. Both children, the parents say, were always strong and hearty.

PUNCTURED BY A SNAKE.

The Strange Accident to Young Hulse's Bi-cycle and His Remarkable Remedy, MIDDLETOWS, N. Y., July 13.-The famous wheelman's path from Port Jervis to Dingman's Ferry along the Delaware River on the way to the Water Gap seems to abound with dangerous reptiles that seem to have a special antipathy toward cyclers. Newspapers have contained many marvellous stories regarding experiences along this route, but the latest and one of the most remarkable is related by Clarence and Mortimer Hulse, brothers, of this city, of local fame as racers. On Sunday, as their story goes, fame as racers. On Sunday, as their story goes, they encountered a rattler on this trip four feet in length. It lay across the road in their path. The snake kept his head elevated, and when the wheelmen approached showed fight by changing its position more in their path. While the two were debating what to do the snake staried toward them. They both mounted and rode for it. It struck at the leg of the older brether, but missed, burled its fangs deep into and punctured the tire.

The remarkable part of the story is that Hulse did not use the snake for a new tire. But he didn't. He threw it away, and patched the tire with commonplace tape and cement. tire with commonplace tape and cement.

WHITEWAYITES QUARREL.

Overturn the Government. St. Jonns, N. F., July 13.-The Whiteway Ministry is involved in a serious quarrel. Prenier Whiteway, who is endeavoring to reduce the expenses of conducting the sessions of the Legislature, moved a reduction in the vote for that purpose from $35,000 to $20,000. Only one member of his party followed him. The remainder, led by Colonial Secretary Bond, voted for the higher figure.

The rupture intensifies previous quarrels and threatens to break up the Government. The fishery reports from Labrador are improving.

HOW BAKER FRIETAG LOST $35. A Wedding Cake and a Shawl and an Old, Old Bunco Game.

A well-dressed man went into Rudolph Frie-tag's baker shop at 633 Communipaw avenue, Jersey City, yesterday morning and asked Mr. Frietag if he could make a nice wedding cake for him. He wanted something particularly nice, as his daughter was about to be married. Frietag said he could make as fine a cake as anybody in the business, and it was arranged that he should make one which was to cost $16. Just as the customer was going out another man entered and, opening a parcel, showed Frietze a shawl, which parcel, showed Frietag a shawl, which he said was worth $75, but he was willing to sacrifice it for $15, because he needed the money. The baker didn't want the shawl, but the first man thought it would be an elegant wedding present for his daughter, and said he would buy it. He didn't have the money with him, but he suggested to Haker Frietag to pay for the shawl and hold it for him until he went around to the house and got the money. The baker did so. Of course, the man who ordered the wedding cake did not return, and the baker has the shawl, which is worth perhaps $1.

AN UNGRATEFUL POLICEMAN. Orinks His Friend's Beer and Then Arrests the Friend.

Edward F. Raacke, a saloon keeper at 392 Nelson avenue. Jerrey City, looked as if he had lost all faith in human nature when he was arraigned before Police Justice Douglas yesterday morning for selling liquor on Sunday. The complainant was Michael Johnston, a recently appointed policeman. Johnston was standing on the corner of Nelson avenue and the Boulevard on Sunday afternoon in the broiling sun and mopping his brow. Raacke's wife saw him and said to her husband, "There's Mike Johnston over on the corner. He looks Mike Johnston over on the corner. He looks hot and tired, and you ought to invite him over and give him a drink." Raacke adopted the suggestion. He and Johnston were very warm friends. Raacke eent to the door and whistled for Johnston. The policeman responded fromptly, and on being invited to take a drink said he would have beer. He drank the beer and then placed Raacke under arrest.

Raacke was fined $20 and costs, making his sympathy for the policeman cost him $25.

church there was a sudden change for the worse in Rosie's condition. Miss Wilson had a hurry call sentout for an ambulance, One came quickly from Gouverneur Hospital, but just as it arrived the child expired. Surseon Harman worked over Hattie until he feli it safe to remove her, and then had her taken to the hospital.

Dr. Harman confirmed the diagnosis of Dr. Smith. Hattle was unconscious when the ambulance got to the beoptial, but sine subsequently revived, and at night was considered out of danger.

The names of the children were not learned until do'clock, when Rosie's mother, alarmed at the child's long stay, went in search of her. She found a crowd of women about the church, many of whom, out of curiosity, were trying to cross to the east side to go up to the bridge, when both cars approached at the same time and, crashing into his car until too late to avoid a collision.

The Descent Upon New York City on July

21 for the Formal Notification of the Nomination Put Off-Senator Jones Says a Third Ticket Would Help Bryan. SALEM, Ill., July 13 .- "Billy" Bryan, the Boy Orator of the Platte and the candidate of the Chicago Convention for President, is here. The town is wild. Everybody seems to have gone completely daft. Salem and Odin have been fit candidates for treatment for wholesale lunary ever since they learned that Billy Bryan had been nominated, but their condition for three days has been nothing compared with the present state.

Bonfires are burning in both towns as high as the houses themselves; cannon and guns and pistols are going off. All the left-over Fourth of July stock of fireworks is shooting. The town brass band is spouting and all the populace is out en masse-that is to say, male part of it. Every man with a gun has it with him and

When the news reached here on Saturday that Billy Bryan was coming here, the order was to spruce up, and every minute since then that was not taken up in yelling, has been taken up in getting ready to receive him. Every house and every fence on the main Street from the Baltimore and Ohio and Southwestern station has been painted fresh, and the total supply of Chinese lanterns and other fine ornaments that Chicago and St. Louis possessed and about half the supply of bunting has been called into requi-

To-night the town looked like a big country fair-ground. Bryan's train was due at Odin at 0:30 o'clock. Two hours before that time crowds began to gather. The women folks were left at home to light up the lanterns, and the men shouldered their guns or pocketed their pistols and went to the depot to shoot and shout.

Odin is six miles from Salem, and the candidate had to change cars there to a Baltimore & Onio and South Eastern train. It was for Odin that the men headed. As the time for the arrival of Billy's train approached the crowd increased in size there are only 3,000 people in the two towns to draw from. They appeared to be all out, and they made as fine a looking collection of the horny-handed sons of toil as ever gathered to welcome a Presidential candidate.

They were in their shirt sleeves for the most part and Bryan's name was on the tongue of every man. About two-thirds of the crowd were personal or blood relatives of Bryan himself. and the other third wished it was. Bryan's relattonship here is extensive. It extends to some seven or eight families, and the town of Salem is made up of these families and their branches. The nearer to train time the greater became the excitement about the Odin station. The men went round thumping each other in the back and dancing up and down in their joy.

"Be I?" snorted the other. "Well, I be." He fairly shouted with joy. "Oh, don't I wish't I was," almost mouned the

"And I am his cousin by marriage," said an-"Well, I am only twice removed," said an-"Three cheers for Billy Bryan," yelled another man, as he came up, and that set all the relations and all the others howling. "I want to tell ye the world ain't seen a orator his match; talked his-self into the Presidency," shouted another. "By gum, he gone and done us proud?" howled another, and then came more blood-curdling yells for Billy Bryan. It was fifteen minutes before train time when the crowd got fairly beside itself. The telegraph office was besieged by men who demanded, "Is It wasn't. Every man who asked ran back and then three more cheers were given for Billy Bryan, and half a dozen more men would rush off to find out more definitely about the train. threatened to blow itself to pieces. A new bonfire would be started, and every new borfire added to the enthusiasm. The passengers on the 9:10 train up thought when their train rolled up to the station that a band of Commanche Indians was loose or that the train was about to be robbed, and they grabbed their watches and pocketbooks and

The moment the train reached the station the crowd pushed forward. The band was lost in the shuffle. The smiling face of Billy was seen at a win-dow in the last car. Then others' shouts were celipsed. As Billy made his way out and started down the steps he was seized. Old men and young men grabbed him. He was terned and twisted and justied. He tried to shake hands with people, but they shook him. "It's the same old Billy." yelled the crowd. Finally, Col. Morrison, who is head of the coal mine here, saw the danger the candidate was in and he took matters in his own hands.

"Make war," he shouted, "my brethren, make way for Billy Bryan." And as he shouted he pushed. The crowd fell back shouting. The brass band recovered itself and played, "See the Conquering Hero Comes." It led the way across the street to the new Virginia Hotel, which is near the depot, Col. Morrison held Billy by the arm and led him across the street. A couple of women took charge of Mrs. Bryan. The crowd followed, while the cannon boomed and the guns went off. There was a little delay at the hotel. The crowd could not get in, Ja about ten minutes Billy appeared at the door and was led to a stand which had been built and was lifted up on that,

Col. Morrison followed him and formally introduced him as the next President of the United States. The candidate bowed, and his face was wreathed in smiles. "Speech, speech," yelled the crowd. "You cannot expect me to make a speech." sald Mr. Hryau, "because I have not yet been notified of my nomination. I have some inkling of it in the newspapers, but that's all, and until a candidate is notified he hasn't any right to go around making speeches.
